

My Mountain Experience: An Episode I Cheated Death

By Chi-ko Lu

Abstract for “my mountain experience”

This is a sad story of a nine-year old boy trying very hard, even risk death, to help his family overcome the war-time hardship. To provide firewood for his family, he went with village men to cut trees on a mountain late one afternoon and accidentally fell off the cliff. Instead of being appreciated for his endeavor, he was scolded for taking more rice than he should.

Biography of Author

Lu Chih-ko, B.Sc. (1955) in Agronomy, NTU; Teaching assistant in Botany, NTU (1958-60); M. Sc. in Botany (1962) and Ph.D. in Botany and Genetics (1965) University of Alberta, Canada; Post Doctoral Fellow in Genetics, University of Cambridge, England (1965-67); Invited visiting scientist, University of Copenhagen, Denmark (1967); Appointed Professor in Molecular Biology and Genetics, University of Guelph (1967); retired as Professor Emeritus(1997).